The Longview community made history by voting in favor of a $456.2 million bond that promises to transform the educational landscape for students and families in Longview Independent School District. As district leaders finalize plans and prepare to break ground on projects, the excitement and gratitude for this monumental step forward are palpable across the community.

MOMENT OF UNITY

On May 4, 2024, Longview voters approved all five propositions of the bond package, marking a turning point in the district’s mission to provide exceptional learning environments and opportunities for its students. The overwhelming support reflects a shared vision for the future of education in Longview, a commitment Superintendent Dr. Marla Sheppard calls “an incredible testament to the strength and unity of our community.”

“This bond represents so much more than just bricks and mortar—it represents our collective belief in the potential of every child in Longview ISD,” Dr. Sheppard said. “The trust our voters placed in us is humbling, and we are dedicated to honoring that trust by delivering on our promises.”

OPINION

These bond projects will re-shape our District

By Dr. Marla Sheppard
Superintendent of Schools

Longview ISD is poised for transformation, thanks to the community's resounding support in passing the $456.2 million bond in May 2024.

This milestone is not just about bricks and mortar; it is about opportunity, innovation, and an unwavering commitment to the success of every student in our district.

As we prepare to break ground on these historic projects, I want to share the excitement and gratitude that fill the air across our community.

The bond represents a shared vision for the future—a vision that prioritizes cutting-edge learning environments, comprehensive career preparation, and facilities that meet the needs of a diverse and thriving student body. From a state-of-the-art Early Childhood Center to a world-class Career and Technical Education (CTE) facility, these projects will equip our students with the tools they need to excel in academics, careers, and life.

For our youngest learners, the new Early Childhood Center will be a space designed with care and intention, fostering curiosity and growth. Meanwhile, the current facility will be repurposed to enhance special education and technology services, ensuring that every child's unique needs are met with excellence.

At the heart of Longview High School's expansion is the primary CTE facility, which will house programs such as automotive, plumbing, nursing, and other essential trades. This expansion enhances already robust offerings in technical and trade-oriented fields. Adjacent to the multipurpose indoor facility, a second, smaller CTE center will focus on programs related to extracurricular activities and career pathways in areas like healthcare pathways, hospitality and event hosting, multimedia production, business, finance, and marketing—all of which are tied to real-world applications, including The Lobo Store. This dual-facility approach ensures that students have access to comprehensive, well-rounded career preparation opportunities.

The multipurpose indoor facility will not only support athletic programs but also provide spaces for a variety of student activities and community events. This dual-purpose approach reflects our commitment to making every investment work harder for our students and stakeholders. Alongside this, upgrades to Lobo and Judson stadiums, as well as the construction of a new Aquatics Center, will enhance our ability to provide top-tier extracurricular opportunities that build character, teamwork, and school pride.

Since the bond's passage, our leadership team has worked tirelessly behind the scenes, laying the groundwork for success. From the detailed planning sessions to collaboration with architects, contractors, and community members, every step has been taken with care. Transparency and accountability are our guiding principles. It's important to note that, even with the significant investment represented by the bond, Longview ISD has managed to lower the total tax rate for the sixth consecutive year. This achievement underscores our commitment to fiscal responsibility while delivering on promises to enhance educational opportunities for every student.

Our Board of Trustees, representing our entire community, ensures that these projects remain on track and aligned with the community's expectations. Regular updates are shared on our dedicated bond webpage, LISD.org/bond2024, so everyone can follow our progress.

This is a pivotal moment for Longview ISD. Our community has entrusted us with an extraordinary opportunity to build a brighter future, and we are committed to delivering on that trust. These projects will not only benefit today's students but also leave a lasting legacy for generations to come. We believe this is more than a bond; this is a promise to our students and our community—a promise to dream big, build boldly, and embrace the future with open arms.

Our work ahead is ambitious, but with your continued partnership, the possibilities are boundless.

I encourage you to stay connected, stay involved, and join us in celebrating the incredible journey ahead.

To our families, staff, and supporters: thank you for believing in what we can achieve together.

GO LOBOS!

— Dr. Marla Sheppard was chosen to lead Longview ISD in 2024, bringing extensive experience as a teacher, principal, and administrator in large metro school systems, with a proven record of high-achieving learning environments. She aims to expand academic and extracurricular programs, solidifying Longview ISD as the destination for excellence in education.

Evolution in district communications, community relations

By Matthew Prosser
Chief of Strategic Initiatives

Change and growth go hand in hand, and nowhere is this more evident than in Longview ISD's Communications and Community Relations departments.

Over the past few months, we've restructured these vital areas, bringing new leadership and fresh perspectives.

This reflects thoughtful planning and an unwavering commitment to serving our students, families, and stakeholders.

Ms. Elizabeth Ross has been promoted to Director of Community Relations. A valued Longview ISD member since 2017, she previously served as Multimedia Director. Her background in event planning, public relations, and outreach strengthens our district's connections with families, organizations, and partners. Elizabeth's dedication underscores her passion for serving our community.

Mr. Skyler Hefley has joined Longview ISD as Director of Communications. His expertise in marketing and rebranding, honed at Tyler ISD, equips him to elevate our district's brand and foster engagement. Known for his innovative, data-driven approach, Skyler is committed to connecting with stakeholders in ways that inspire trust and enthusiasm.

Ms. Kacy Swaim, our Outreach Coordinator, has been with Longview ISD since 2019, forging meaningful partnerships with families and the community. Her enthusiasm for stakeholder engagement is evident in her work across district initiatives.

Mr. Dustin Taylor, our Digital Media & Communications Specialist, has elevated print and digital media for Longview ISD with his award-winning work. As editor of The Longview Voice, his digital storytelling expertise continues to earn national recognition.

Mr. Francisco Rojas serves as Family Engagement Coordinator and Public Information Officer, ensuring effective communication with families. His background in marketing and international education enriches our outreach and strengthens connections with our diverse community.

These changes followed my transition last year to Chief of Strategic Initiatives. My expanded responsibilities necessitated splitting the former Communications role into two leadership areas, allowing for greater specialization and focus.

The path forward includes enhancements to our digital presence, storytelling, and proactive engagement. These changes aren't just about meeting today's challenges but about preparing Longview ISD to thrive for years to come.

By fostering collaboration and transparency, we aim to create a district where every voice is heard and every success is celebrated.

I encourage you to get involved: visit our revamped website, follow us on social media, and share your thoughts.

Together, we are building a brighter future for our students, schools, and community.

— An award-winning communications expert, Matthew Prosser is Chief of Strategic Initiatives for Longview Independent School District.

Technology transforms Longview ISD

By Benjamin Wood
Chief Technology Officer

Hello Longview ISD Community,

My name is Benjamin Wood, and I am honored to join Longview ISD as your new Chief Technology Officer. Over the past week, I've had the privilege of meeting many incredible staff members and witnessing the passion and dedication that make this district such a vibrant community.

Before joining Longview ISD, I served as the Coordinator of Digital Learning at Region 7 Education Service Center, where I led initiatives to integrate cutting-edge technology into classrooms. My work focused on empowering educators with tools like artificial intelligence and personalized learning solutions to create innovative teaching experiences. Prior to that, I was the Director of Technology at Chapel Hill ISD, where I oversaw IT infrastructure, cybersecurity, and strategic technology planning to support both educators and students. These roles, along with my teaching background in Career and Technical Education, have instilled in me a deep appreciation for the transformative power of technology in education.

At Longview ISD, my mission is to ensure that technology serves as a seamless and inspiring part of our educational ecosystem. From robust and secure infrastructure to innovative classroom tools, I am committed to fostering an environment where students and teachers can thrive. My goals include enhancing digital equity, streamlining our systems for better efficiency, and leveraging data to support informed decision-making.

Looking ahead, I'm excited to collaborate with our dedicated IT team, teachers, and administrators to turn these goals into realities. Whether it's supporting teachers with professional development, empowering students with advanced learning tools, or ensuring our systems run flawlessly, I am here to listen, learn, and lead.

Thank you for welcoming me to the Longview ISD family. I look forward to meeting many of you in the coming weeks and working together to ensure that technology continues to enhance the amazing work happening in our district.

Warm regards,
Benjamin Wood

District earns perfect score from TEA again

Longview ISD has once again achieved a perfect score on the Financial Integrity Rating System of Texas (FIRST) Report for the 2023-24 school year, earning the maximum score in all 21 evaluation categories. This marks another milestone in the district's longstanding tradition of excellence in financial management.

"Since the program's creation, Longview ISD has received a Superior rating nearly every year," said Dr. Wayne Guidry, Chief Financial Officer. "This consistent performance reflects our commitment to financial transparency and our focus on maximizing resources for the benefit of our students and staff."

The FIRST program, established by the Texas Education Agency (TEA), evaluates school districts across multiple metrics, including budget planning, debt management, and overall fiscal responsibility. The system is designed to ensure accountability and encourage best practices in financial stewardship among Texas public schools.

"Achieving a Superior rating is more than just a score—it's a reflection of our district's dedication to sound financial management and strategic resource allocation," added Dr. Guidry. "Our community can rest assured that every dollar is being used responsibly to support student achievement and operational efficiency."

Bond webpage relaunched, latest news

After the successful passage of its May 2024 bond election, Longview ISD is enhancing its commitment to transparency and community engagement as it embarks on several transformative projects. The bond, approved to address critical needs such as new facilities, technology upgrades, and campus improvements, is supported by a robust communication strategy to keep stakeholders informed every step of the way.

A key component of this effort is the district's soon-to-launch webpage, LISD.org/bond2024, which will serve as a one-stop shop for all bond-related updates. Visitors can access detailed timelines, photos, videos, and monthly updates showcasing the progress of projects.

The webpage will also feature upcoming podcasts with Superintendent Dr. Marla Sheppard, providing insights into the district's vision and the bond's impact on students and families.

"Our voters entrusted us with this bond, and we're committed to honoring that trust through transparent and accessible communication," said Dr. Sheppard. "This bond represents an investment in our students' future, and keeping the community informed and involved is critical as we make this vision a reality."

In addition to the revamped webpage, Longview ISD is utilizing its quarterly community newspaper The Longview Voice, which is mailed directly to registered voters, to provide comprehensive bond updates. Each issue will highlight bond project progress alongside engaging stories that cele

TCU experience: Journey into finance

By William Hilton
Longview High School Senior

This past summer, I had the incredible opportunity to attend the TCU High School Investors Challenge Camp, a program hosted by the Neeley School of Business at Texas Christian University. As someone who had always been intrigued by the world of finance but had no real experience in investing, I wasn't entirely sure what to expect from the camp. I knew it would involve learning about investing, but I didn't anticipate just how much hands-on experience and practical knowledge I would gain in such a short period.

From the moment I arrived, I was immersed in a world of finance, surrounded by like-minded peers who shared my curiosity and enthusiasm about the stock market. Let me lead you through my experience, highlighting the activities I took part in, the knowledge I gained, and how the camp has shaped my understanding of investing and personal finance.

INTRO TO THE STOCK MARKET

The first few days of the camp were dedicated to building a foundation of financial knowledge. We began by learning about the stock market—how it works, why it exists, and how investors use it to buy and sell shares of companies. The instructors, who were TCU professors and experienced professionals in the finance industry, broke down complex concepts into digestible pieces, making them easy to understand even for someone like me who was new to investing.

One of the key takeaways from the first sessions was understanding the difference between stocks, bonds, and other investment vehicles. I learned that stocks represent ownership in a company, while bonds are essentially loans to companies or governments that pay interest over time. Mutual funds and ETFs, which pool together money from many investors to buy a diversified portfolio of stocks and bonds, were also discussed in detail. This initial exposure to various investment options helped me understand the different ways I could approach building an investment portfolio.

The instructors didn't just lecture us; instead, they made sure we were engaged by asking questions, using real-world examples, and offering scenarios where we could apply what we had learned. I remember feeling amazed at how intricate and interconnected the financial markets were,

Several upgrades made to district leadership

Longview ISD is proud to announce the addition of two new leaders and the promotion of a familiar face within the district.

Following an extensive and rigorous selection process, these individuals emerged as the top candidates from a highly competitive field of applicants from across the nation.

Superintendent Dr. Marla Sheppard emphasized the strategic nature of these moves, stating, "Each of these appointments strengthens our district's leadership team in critical areas, allowing us to build on our successes and address opportunities for growth."

BENJAMIN WOOD

Mr. Benjamin Wood joins Longview ISD as its new Chief Technology Officer. With over a decade of expertise in educational technology, Mr. Wood most recently served as Digital Learning Coordinator at Region 7 Education Service Center in Kilgore, Texas. In that role, he spearheaded innovative e-learning initiatives, enhancing student performance across multiple districts. Prior to that, he served as Director of Technology at Chapel Hill Independent School District, where he led efforts to integrate cutting-edge technology into classroom learning.

WOOD

"We are thrilled to welcome Benjamin to the Longview ISD family," said Dr. Sheppard.

"His exceptional background in educational technology and cybersecurity will be instrumental in driving our district's technological advancements, ensuring a secure and innovative learning environment for all."

Mr. Wood holds master's degrees in Education, Cybersecurity, and Information Assurance, positioning him uniquely to lead LISD's technological initiatives. Outside of work, Mr. Wood is an avid woodworker and 3D printing enthusiast. He and his wife, Susan, are proud parents to two children.

ELIZABETH ROSS

Ms. Elizabeth Ross has been a valued member of LISD since 2017, bringing her passion for community engagement and multimedia to every role she has held.

ROSS

A two-time graduate of Stephen F. Austin State University, she holds a Bachelor of Arts in Journalism/Public Relations and Speech Communication as well as a Master of Arts in Mass Communication. Ms. Ross's professional experience spans advertising, art licensing, higher education, and public relations, with a focus on event logistics and social media marketing.

In her time with LISD, she has served as a Communication Specialist and Multimedia Director, wearing many hats while contributing to the district's success. She also serves as the site coordinator for Matthew McConaughey's Just Keep Livin' program at Longview High School, underscoring her commitment to student enrichment. Ms. Ross is married to her high school sweetheart, Brian, and together they have three sons.

"Elizabeth's dedication and work ethic are well-known across our district," said Mr. Matthew Prosser, Chief of Strategic Initiatives. "Her promotion is a testament to her ability to connect with our community and elevate our outreach efforts."

SKYLER HEFLEY

Mr. Skyler Hefley joins LISD with a fresh perspective on school communications, blending private-sector expertise with a passion for public education.

HEFLEY

Previously with Tyler ISD, he led award-winning marketing campaigns and rebranding efforts, significantly expanding the district's digital presence. Known for his innovative and data-driven approach, Mr. Hefley is dedicated to fostering meaningful engagement and elevating LISD's brand.

"Skyler's unique skillset and forward-thinking vision make him a perfect fit for LISD," said Mr. Prosser. "His ability to create compelling content and connect with stakeholders will be a tremendous asset to our district."

Mr. Hefley earned a Bachelor of Business Administration in Marketing from the University of Texas at Tyler. Born in Kilgore and raised in Arlington, he has returned to East Texas with his wife and two children. In his free time, he enjoys camping, golf, and strategic board games.

LOOKING AHEAD

These leadership changes come as part of a broader restructuring of Longview ISD Communications & Community Relations.

With the promotion of Mr. Prosser to Chief of Strategic Initiatives last year, his expanded responsibilities necessitated splitting the communications role into two distinct areas of focus: Community Relations and Communications.

Mr. Prosser explained that this restructuring ensures the department is equipped to meet the growing needs of the district while enhancing its outreach and engagement efforts.

"Our vision for district communications is rooted in the belief that meaningful connection drives meaningful change," he said. "By emphasizing precision, creativity, and intentionality, we aspire to inspire a dynamic new paradigm for how schools can build trust and collaboration internally as well as externally."

New principals hired for Bailey, Judson

Two Longview ISD campuses welcomed new principals for the spring semester, with Dr. Derrick Estes stepping into the leadership role at Clarence W. Bailey Elementary and Mr. Danny Stanley taking the helm as interim principal at Judson Middle School.

Dr. Derrick Estes

Dr. Derrick Estes has been named the principal of Clarence W. Bailey Elementary School, bringing 15 years of educational experience to the campus. Most recently, Dr. Estes served as principal of James H. Law Elementary in Houston ISD, where he led the campus to an A rating with five distinctions during his six-year tenure.

Dr. Estes earned his bachelor's degree in Interdisciplinary Studies from the University of Houston Downtown, a master's degree in Educational Leadership and Policy from the University of Texas at Arlington, and a doctorate from the University of St. Thomas.

"Dr. Estes's proven record of success and commitment to academic excellence makes him an outstanding choice for Bailey Elementary," said Dr. Marla

ESTES

Sheppard, Longview ISD superintendent. "We are thrilled to have his leadership and vision in our district."

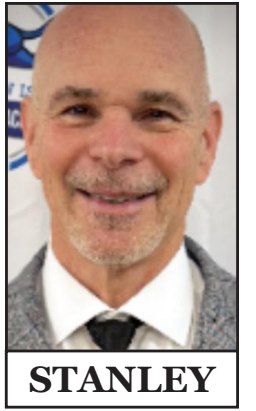

Danny Stanley

Mr. Danny Stanley, an East Texas native and Hallsville High School graduate, has been named interim principal of Judson Middle School. Mr. Stanley has spent more than 15 years in education, including the last six-and-a-half years as an assistant principal at Judson STEAM Academy.

Mr. Stanley holds a bachelor's degree from East Texas Baptist University, a Master of Arts from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, and a Master of Education from Texas A&M University-Texarkana. His previous experience includes teaching and coaching at Longview High School and teaching at Kilgore High School.

"Mr. Stanley's dedication to students and his deep roots in this community position him perfectly to lead Judson Middle School at this time," said Dr. Sheppard. "We look forward to seeing his continued impact on the campus and its culture of learning."

Board President Mr. Michael Tubb expressed excitement for what each of these new roles will bring to the district.

"These hires represent a significant step forward in our district's commitment to excellence," he said. "Each of these leaders brings unique strengths and proven experience that will help drive Longview ISD toward our goals of becoming one of the premier school districts in Texas."

Dr. Sheppard echoed the sentiment, adding that, after an extensive search and rigorous interview process, "We are confident that we have found the absolute best candidates for these crucial positions."

"What particularly impressed us about each of these leaders was their track record of implementing innovative solutions while maintaining a steadfast focus on student success," she said. "Their collaborative approach and commitment to excellence align perfectly with our vision for Longview ISD."

sure every dollar is spent responsibly and every project is executed with precision. Detailed plans are being finalized for the various projects included in the bond, with input from stakeholders such as teachers, parents, and community members.

"This phase is about careful planning and collaboration," said Longview ISD Chief Financial Officer Wayne Guidry. "We want our community to know that we're being thoughtful about every decision, ensuring these projects will have a lasting impact."

The district has also formed a bond advisory committee composed of community members, business leaders, and parents to oversee the planning and construction process. This group will play a vital role in ensuring transparency and accountability throughout the implementation phase.

WHAT THE BOND WILL BRING

The projects included in the bond package are wide-ranging and designed to address both immediate needs and long-term goals for Longview ISD students:

Modernized Learning Environments: Renovations to Longview High School and other campuses will provide state-of-the-art classrooms and facilities that support 21st-century learning.

Career & Technology Education: A new, second structure will be built, allowing the CTE classes to have more space. Due to the current lack of space, some classes take place in the main building of the high school. Construction is expected to start in the third quarter of this year, as of the December Board meeting.

Enhanced Early Childhood Education: A new Early Childhood Center will provide a modern space for the youngest learners, while the current facility will be repurposed for special education and technology services. Construction is expected to start in the third quarter of this year, as of the December Board meeting.

Athletic Excellence: A multi-purpose athletic facility will serve all sports and student activities, providing much-needed resources such as batting cages, weight rooms, and a golf simulator. Construction is expected to start in the third quarter of this year, as of the December Board meeting.

Upgraded Stadiums: Improvements to Lobo Stadium and Judson Middle School Stadium will enhance the experience for athletes and fans alike, with updated LED lighting, storage, and restroom facilities.

State-of-the-Art Aquatics Center: The new natatorium will feature 20 25-meter lanes, a diving well, and spectator seating, ensuring LISD students have access to a top-tier swimming facility. Construction is expected to start in the third quarter of this year, as of the December Board meeting.

VISION FOR THE FUTURE

As groundbreaking on these projects approaches, the excitement among students, parents, and staff is growing.

"It's inspiring to know that our community came together to invest in something that will benefit generations to come," said Dr. Sheppard. "This bond is about giving our students the tools, facilities, and opportunities they deserve to reach their full potential."

Community members can expect to see the first signs of construction activity in early 2025, with updates and progress reports shared regularly through the district's website and social media channels.

GRATITUDE FOR A SHARED VISION

For many in the Longview community, the bond's passage represents a deep commitment to the district's future. Longtime resident and parent, Maria Gonzales, said, "This bond is proof of what we can achieve when we work together. Our kids deserve the best, and now they'll have it."

Dr. Sheppard echoed that sentiment, adding, "This is a once-in-a-generation opportunity to make a difference in the lives of our students and our community. To everyone who voted, supported, and believed in this vision—thank you. Together, we are building a brighter future, piece by piece."

LOOKING AHEAD

As Longview ISD prepares to break ground, the district remains focused on its mission to provide every child with every chance for success. The projects funded by this bond will not only benefit current students but will also serve as a legacy for future generations.

"This bond is about more than construction; it's about creating opportunities," Dr. Sheppard said. "From modern classrooms to world-class athletic and fine arts facilities, these projects will ensure that Longview ISD remains a place where students can dream big and achieve more."

With construction set to begin soon, the district is ready to turn its vision into reality, ensuring that the district remains a source of pride for students, families, and the entire community.

sembled an expert team to oversee these ambitious projects. These four individuals bring decades of experience, innovative thinking, and a commitment to ensuring every dollar is spent wisely.

SAMUEL KINGTON

As Longview ISD’s Chief of Facilities and Operations, Samuel Kington is the district’s top authority on all bond-related matters, second only to Superintendent Dr. Marla Sheppard. Joining the district in December 2024, Kington brings more than a decade of experience in facilities management.

KINGTON

In previous roles, Kington led multimillion-dollar improvement projects and operations for large-scale educational facilities. Now, he’s leveraging that expertise to oversee the execution of Longview ISD’s ambitious plans.

“My goal is to ensure that every project reflects our community’s investment and provides students with the best possible environment to learn and thrive,” Kington said.

MIKE GIPSON

Few know Longview ISD’s facilities like Mike Gipson. Having served the district for decades, Gipson’s encyclopedic knowledge of every building’s history makes him an invaluable resource as Bond Construction Manager.

GIPSON

“Mike understands not just the buildings but their stories,” Kington said. “He’s ensuring we preserve what matters most while modernizing for the future.”

From managing construction crews to ensuring projects stay on schedule, Gipson’s expertise ensures the district honors its past while building for tomorrow.

PAUL MILLER

Paul Miller, Program Director with PROCEDEO, focuses on new construction projects like the Early Childhood Center and multipurpose indoor and it made me excited to learn more.

HANDS ON EXPERIENCE

One of the most exciting and valuable parts of the camp was the stock market simulation. As part of this hands-on experience, we were each given a virtual portfolio with a set amount of “money” to invest. The goal was to build and manage our portfolio as effectively as possible over the course of the week.

The simulation was run in real-time, so we had to make investment decisions based on the latest market data, news, and trends. Each day, we would receive updates on how our investments were performing, and we could choose to buy, sell, or hold stocks based on market conditions. This aspect of the camp was especially engaging because it mirrored real-world investing, where markets fluctuate, and decisions need to be made quickly.

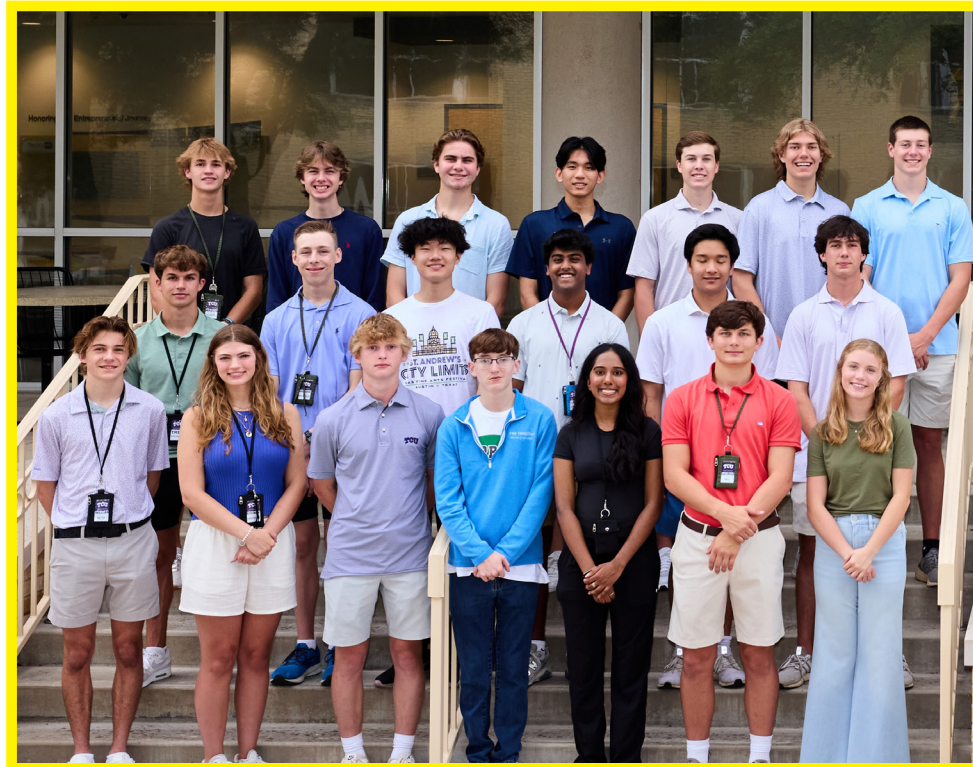

During this part of the camp, I learned how to analyze companies for investment potential. We were taught how to look at financial statements, such as balance sheets and income statements, to understand a company’s financial health. For example, we analyzed revenue growth, debt levels, and profit margins to determine whether a stock was a good buy. I had never really thought about investing in such a data-driven way, but the simulation made it clear that successful investing requires careful research and decision-making.

It was also during the simulation that I first encountered the challenge of balancing risk and reward. In the beginning, I took a more conservative approach, investing in established companies with stable returns. However, I quickly realized that I needed to take calculated risks in order to see significant gains. By the end of the camp, I had gained a deeper appreciation for the importance of diversification—spreading investments across different asset types and sectors to reduce risk.

LEARNING STRATEGIES

In addition to the stock market simulation, we were introduced to different investment strategies, such as value investing, growth investing, and income investing. These strategies provided frameworks for making decisions about which stocks to buy and how to manage a portfolio over time.

I was particularly intrigued by value investing, a strategy popularized by Warren Buffett. This approach involves buying stocks that appear undervalued compared to their intrinsic worth. Through discussions and examples, I learned how value investors look for “bargain” stocks by evaluating metrics like price-to-earnings ratios and comparing them to industry averages.

Growth investing, on the other hand, focuses on companies that are expected to grow at an above-average rate compared to other companies. Learning about these different approaches was enlightening, and it allowed me to see that there is no one-size-fits-all approach to investing. The right strategy depends on an investor’s goals, risk tolerance, and market outlook.

Another key part of our learning focused on market psychology and how emotions play a role in investing. We discussed how fear and greed can drive market behavior, and how biases like overconfidence and herd mentality can influence decisions. Understanding these psychological factors was eye-opening because it made me realize how important it is to remain level-headed and stick to a sound strategy, especially during market volatility.

RISK MANAGEMENT

One of the most important lessons I took away from the camp was the concept of risk management. We spent a lot of time discussing how to balance risk and reward in a portfolio and the role of diversification in mitigating risk. I learned that while higher-risk investments might offer higher returns, they also come with the potential for significant losses. Understanding this trade-off is critical for making informed investment choices.

We also spent a significant amount of time discussing the ethics of investing. We learned that investing isn’t just about making money—it’s also about making responsible choices. Ethical investing, or socially responsible investing (SRI), involves considering the impact of investments on the environment, society, and corporate governance. This was an important discussion for me because it reminded me that financial decisions should not be made in a vacuum; they have real-world consequences.

TEAMWORK, COMPETITION

Throughout the week, we were divided into teams and worked together to manage our virtual portfolios. The team aspect added an element of friendly competition, as we competed against other teams to see who could generate the best returns. Working in teams allowed me to collaborate with others, share ideas, and learn from my peers. It was interesting to see how different people approached the same problem, and the diversity of strategies made the experience even more enriching.

LIFE-CHANGING EXPERIENCE

Looking back, attending the TCU High School Investors Challenge Camp was one of the most rewarding experiences of my high school career. The camp gave me a deep understanding of how investing works, from the basics of the stock market to more advanced strategies and ethical considerations. I left the camp not only with a stronger grasp of financial concepts but also with the confidence to start managing my own investments in the future.

The knowledge and skills I gained from the camp have already started to shape my personal finance decisions. I feel more equipped to make smart, informed choices about my savings and investments as I prepare for college and beyond. More than anything, the camp ignited a passion for finance and investing that I plan to explore further in the years to come.

Attending the TCU High School Investors Challenge Camp has been a transformative experience, and I highly recommend it to any high school student interested in finance, investing, or simply improving their financial literacy. The lessons learned at the camp are not only applicable to the world of investing but also to everyday life, helping me think more critically about money and the choices I make.
